Dismantling, Removal And Loading Of Cable Making Machinery

Gauder Group purchased the majority of the redundant cable making machinery from the closed down AEI Cables factory in Northfleet, Kent. Ebbfleet Engineering Services tendered for the removal of these machines and was successful in securing the bulk of the works. The company provided supervision, skilled tradesmen, cranes, forklift trucks and all of the lifting and access equipment required to set up site and undertake these works.

All machines were surveyed and match marked and photographed prior to removal. Ebbfleet Engineering Services also produced all packing lists and documentation required for the machinery to leave the country.

A total of 45 machine lines were dismantled, removed and loaded to vehicles over a period of eighteen months. Of particular note were 2 off 600 tonne and 1 off 1200 tonne capacity turntables, and a Schloemann Aluminium Extrusion press. The press alone comprised 11 articulated vehicle loads of equipment plus the abnormal load of the main press section (pictured below) which weighed in at 95 tonnes.
