

Health and Safety Policy Statement of Ebbfleet Engineering Services Ltd

In Accordance with the Health and Safety at Work Act 1974

The company is committed to ensuring the safety, health and welfare of all its employees and others who may be affected by the work activities and seeks to continually improve health and safety performance throughout the organisation by the implementation of an efficient and effective health and safety management system and procedures as an essential part of the overall strategy for the development of the company.

- Health and Safety is an integral part of the business process.
- Commitment to the prevention of injury and ill health.
- Best practice achieved through management leadership and commitment.

All persons under the control of the company to be consulted on health and safety issues
Compliance with applicable health and safety legislation shall be the minimum standard and the company aims to achieve best practice in each location it operates from.

The company shall provide and maintain safe and healthy working conditions, including safe work equipment and safe systems of work for all employees and shall provide such information, training and where necessary supervision to ensure their safety.

Overall responsibility for health and safety rests with the Directors and Management team. A Health and Safety advisor has been appointed with specific responsibility for overseeing the implementation of the policy and for advising the Directors on its development.

The health and safety policy shall be regularly monitored and reviewed to ensure compliance with applicable legislation and to take account of any significant changes.
